Spanish Short Stories For Beginners (Easy Spanish) - Learn Spanish and help Save the Elephants-Mobile Library 2018-07-15 Learning something new, like a new language, is a good thing for anyone. Making the world better, supporting a cause like saving the elephants, is important for everyone. This book brings together these two good things: - will help you to Learn Spanish and to know elephants better - will help all of us with your and ours contribute to help Save the Elephants ($1 of the book value will be donated to organizations with that purpose). About the book content: Hola | Hello Do you understand this first word in Spanish? Yes, you do! This is Easy Spanish! How? Because you read it using a new technique: bilingual reading (parallel text). How it works? It's simple: bilingual reading works by reading two versions of the same book or text at the same time. One version is in the language you want to learn (in this case, we'll help you learn Spanish) and the other version is in your native language or in another language that you feel comfortable with: here we will use English. This way, you can use short stories to learn Spanish the fun way with the bilingual reading natural method. Using this method, you will quickly begin to discover the meaning of words in Spanish and accumulate vocabulary quickly. This book brings together amazing images of elephants with short informations about this amazing animal written in your native language and in language you want to learn. Little by little in this spanish book for kids or adults you will see that everyone is memorizing more vocabulary in an easy, fast and fun way. It's a great spanish vocabulary language learning resource. Let's start Learning Spanish and Help Save the Elephants? ($1 of the book value will be donated to organizations with that purpose). ----- // ----- Contributions from 2019 for the "Baby Elephant Foster Parent Program" We decided to keep the last year purpose and so we donated your and our contributions, from the books sold in 2019, again to the “Baby Elephant Foster Parent Program”, of the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust. The young Maktao received our help. Thank you for supporting that important project to save the elephants in their first years of life. February, 2020 ----- // ----- Contributions from 2018: donated to the "Baby Elephant Foster Parent Program" Contributions from the books sold in 2018 were donated to the "Baby Elephant Foster Parent Program" by the David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust (which you can learn about in detail on the sheldrickwildlifetrust.org website). This magical project runs in Kenya at Nairobi National Park and aims to recover and rescue orphaned elephants who are found abandoned or injured in the first few months or years of life. This program has saved more than 150 elephants! They are collected and cared for until they are able to be returned to nature, when they are integrated into a herd that welcomes them. Thank you for helping us supporting this project. We hope in 2019, with your help, to support even more organizations that are dedicated to saving elephants. Thank you. February, 2019

Environmental Success Stories- Frank Dunnivant 2017-03-21 Unlike many titles on environmental issues that portend a dark future, Environmental Success Stories delves into the most daunting ecological and environmental challenges humankind has faced and shows how scientists, citizens, and a responsive public sector have dealt with them successfully. In addition to presenting the basic chemical and environmental science underlying problems like providing clean drinking water, removing DDT and lead from agriculture and our homes, and curtailing industrial pollution, this book also discusses the political actors, agency regulators, and community leaders who have collaborated to enact effective legislation. Sharing the stories of the people, organizations, and governments who have addressed these problems successfully, Frank M. Dunnivant explains how we might confront the world's largest and most complex environmental crisis: climate change. Now is the time for rededicated scientific exploration and enlightened citizen action to save our environment, and Dunnivant's book offers a stirring call to action.

Shaped by Stories-Marshall W. Gregory 2009

his latest book, Marshall Gregory begins with the premise that our lives are saturated with stories, ranging from magazines, books, films, television, and blogs to the words spoken by politicians, pastors, and teachers. He then explores the ethical implication of this nearly universal human obsession with narratives. Through careful readings of Katherine Anne Porter's "The Grave," Thurber's "The Catbird Seat," as well as David Copperfield and Wuthering Heights, Gregory asks (and answers) the question: How do the stories we absorb in our daily lives influence the kinds of persons we turn out to be? "Shaped by Stories weaves its own compelling story about the pervasive ethical effects of reading narrative, with Marshall Gregory serving as a highly engaging and ethically admirable narrator--a very model of good company." --James Phelan

Marshall Gregory's Shaped by Stories brings ethical criticism to the level of felt experience. Witty and passionate, full of personal reflections and sharp examples, this book will help anyone who has been drawn to the mysterious power of stories to think more carefully about the connections between narrative art and human ethos. Gregory reminds us that the urgency of our need for stories is tied permanently to the need to exercise judgment, belief, and empathy in the process of becoming who we are." --Annette Federico, James Madison University

"From a lifetime of reflecting on the ethics of fiction, Marshall Gregory has given us an elegant analysis of the power of stories to instruct and delight. No one interested in storytelling will want to be without this incisive guide to both the myriad ways that stories shape our lives and the strategies writers use to affect our responses. Both the theoretical and practical halves of Shaped by Stories have clarity and eloquence." --Robert D. Denham, Fishwick Professor of English, Emeritus, Roanoke College

Told - Basil Hyman 2009-09

"Told is about the art of storytelling not the science. It celebrates the emotional rather than the rational. Great business, brands, fashion, art, film, advertising and design are brilliantly told stories. Told explains through words and pictures the importance of story and the universal role it plays as the secret of success. Reading Told and understanding the Twenty Principles of Storytelling will unlock the most amazing creative tool within you and open you up to a whole new world of possibilities."--Jacket.

Stories of Self-help John Alexander 1981

Life Stories Linda L. Viney 1993 Dealing with the joy and wisdom of the elderly, as well as with their anxiety and grief, this book shows how life stories and the reactions of others to them are of central importance to the elderly - maintaining or threatening their sense of personal well-being. Understanding the many roles these stories can play enhances the impact that nurses, welfare workers, social workers and psychologists have on the lives of elderly people. This book provides an approach to therapy based on the concept of such stories. The author shows how to use this technique by the adoption of strategies and the use of case studies. Suggested readings at the ends of the chapters and the list of definitions of some personal construct theory terms at the end of the book will make the volume useful to all professionals working in this field.

Modern Atlantic Stories-Charles Swain Thomas 1932

Children's and YA Books in the College Classroom-Emily Dial-Driver, 2015-03-06 Using children's and young adult literature is a great way to enhance a variety of college classes in fields as varied as biology, computer game development, political science and history. This collection of new essays by educators from a number of disciplines describes how to use such works as Where the Wild Things Are, The Tale of Peter Rabbit, Swamp Thing, Percy Jackson, and Harry Potter to introduce complex concepts and spark interest in difficult subjects. The contributors describe innovative teaching strategies using dystopian fiction, graphic narratives, fairy tales and mythology. Often overlooked or dismissed by teachers, children's literature can support student learning by raising levels of academic rigor, creativity and critical thinking.

Managing Television News
B. William Silcock 2009-03-04 Managing Television News provides a practical introduction to the television news producer, one of the most significant and influential roles in a newscast. Recognizing the need for formal training in this key role, authors B. William Silcock, Don Heider, and Mary T. Rogus have combined their expertise and experience to shape this essential resource on the responsibilities, demands, and rewards of the news producer position. Their book provides a strategic approach to producing newscasts and serves as an in-depth guide to creating quality, audience-friendly newscasts working within the realistic limitations of most newsrooms. It helps the student and the professional producer sort through the various deadline-driven challenges of creating a 30-minute newscast. Filled with real-world examples and advice from news directors, producers, and anchors currently in the business, and photographs illustrating the varied perspectives in the position, Managing Television News provides critical skill sets to help resolve ethical dilemmas, as well as keen and fresh insights on how to win the ratings without compromising news quality. Career concerns are also addressed. This resource is a pioneering book for the professional television newsroom and the individual reader interested in starting or expanding a producing career. It is an excellent text for the college classroom, as its structure fits neatly into a semester schedule, and it is a must-have resource for both seasoned and novice producers, as well as students in broadcast news.

Summer Storm and Other Stories - Glenda Baker 2009-04-13 During the fifteen years Glenda Baker was the publisher and editor-in-chief of NEWN, she read and critiqued hundreds of short stories. She also wrote many of her own. This volume contains twenty-two of Glenda's stories from short (21,000 words) to short-short (about 1,000 words) to flash fiction (52 words total) in which Glenda addresses subjects such as: After doing a favor for his boss, how does a man end up in an maze he can't find his way out of? What would happen if a contemporary kid created a golem? What secrets do three generations of women learn about each other while on a weekend trip to Cape Cod? How far will a passive-aggressive woman go if pushed to the limit?

Toward the Next Generation of Bystander Prevention of Sexual and Relationship Violence - Victoria L. Banyard 2015-09-03 This briefs integrates and synthesizes an array of research about who helps others and under what conditions and discusses the implications of this research for a bystander intervention focused prevention agenda to reduce sexual and relationship violence in schools and communities. It combines an examination of bystander helping behavior in the specific context of sexual and relationship violence with social psychological research on bystander behavior outside that context in order to inform prevention efforts. This briefs is designed for researchers, practitioners, and students concerned about violence prevention and who are interesting in bystander intervention as a promising prevention strategy. Connections between research and practice are the foundation of this briefs. The briefs addresses the following questions: What is the promise of a bystander approach to violence prevention? Where does it fit within the spectrum of sexual and relationship violence prevention? How do we expand theoretical models of helping behavior to the unique context of interpersonal violence? How can we bring in research from other areas of health behavior change and developmental research on violence to inform a broader bystander action model? It provides a new synthesis and model of bystander interaction. It outlines a strategic plan for new research and next steps in prevention practices.
